

Women Who WORK & Women Who WANT to Work

Thursday
April 14th,
2011

Are you in the process of starting your own business?

Are you re-entering the workforce?

Are you weighing your options about going back to work?

This workshop is primarily designed for entrepreneurs and women who are looking for more support and/or challenge in their professional life. The evening will consist of group support. We will look at where you are now and where you envision yourself being. There will be a followup session to help maintain accountability to support you in your next steps.
